Guido has been part of Mayora & Mayora since 2021. He began his career at the firm as a paralegal assistant, which allowed him to gain a solid foundation of experience across various areas of law. He currently serves as a Junior Associate, focusing his practice on litigation.

His main focus is on cases related to energy, environment, and natural resources, particularly in administrative litigation where he has defended companies against multimillion-dollar sanctions. He has experience in obtaining regulatory permits and managing legal risks.

Since 2023, he has also worked as an assistant professor in the courses of General Theory of Procedure and Civil Procedural Law. Additionally, he has extensive experience in preparing and mentoring students for international competitions in International Law, Commercial Arbitration, and Investment Arbitration.
